ABOUT BRAD

Brad's love of soccer began as he and his wife Viva watched their son Jeff and daughter Jane from the sidelines when they played AYSO in the early '90's. Over the next 14 years Brad's love and appreciation of the "beautiful game" grew as he followed Jeff from the Georgetown Rangers, to Grand Valley Premier, Kalamazoo Kingdom, Rovers, and Jenison High School. All who knew Brad enjoyed his warm personality and the way he made those around him feel as if they were his best friend. He had many wonderful qualities, but the one that stands out above the rest was the way he supported not only his own children, but all the kids that played the game. Brad lost his courageous battle with lung cancer on July 11, 2007. Until the very end he remained an inspirational force as a fan, a father, and a friend. We'll never forget him.
